

NORMANDY · FRANCE

Domaine de l’Abbaye

DEAUVILLE

A walled estate of two hectares on the Normandy coast, the beach at the end of the garden, and fifteen bedrooms for the people you want to wake up with.

WEDDINGS AND CELEBRATIONS, ONE AT A TIME

Two hours from Paris, and nobody else on the grounds.

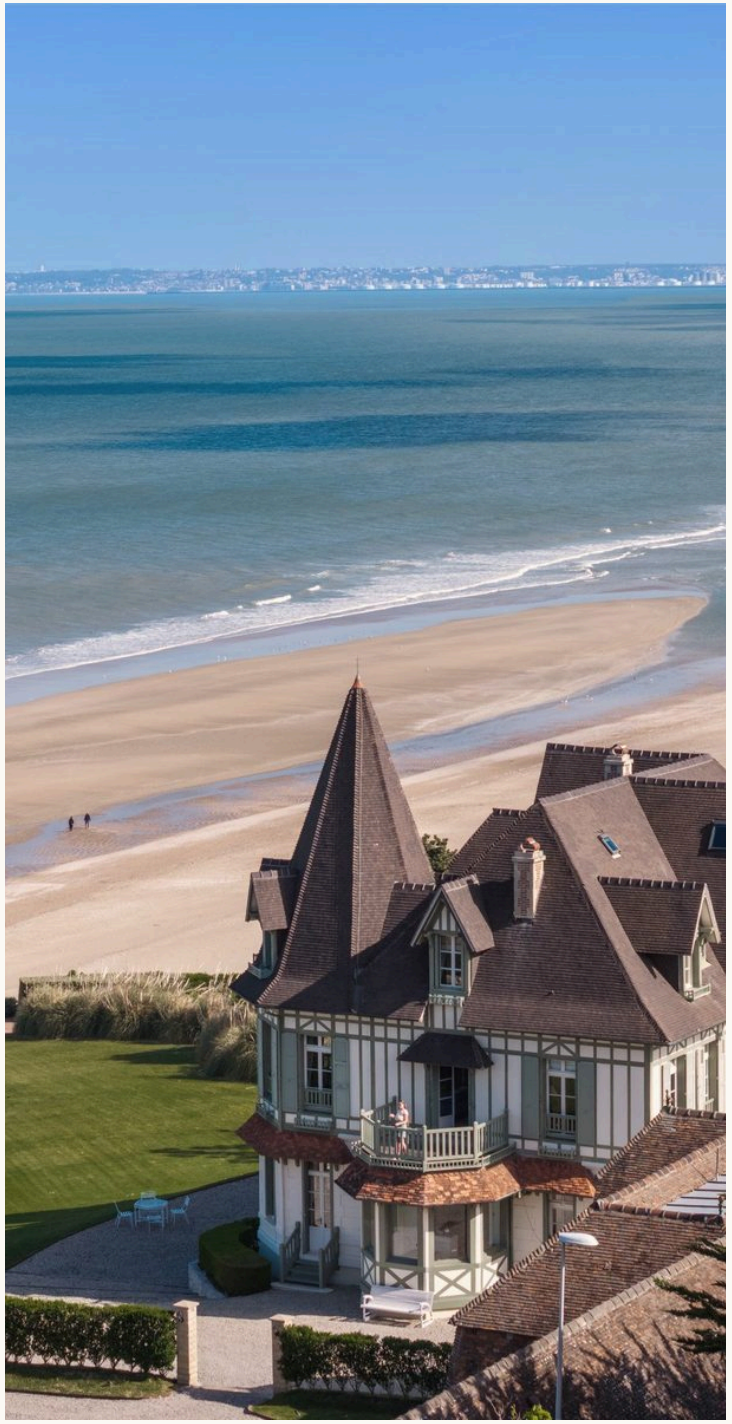
GETTING HERE

A coast, not a countryside

The Côte Fleurie is where Paris has gone to the sea for a hundred and fifty years. Deauville and Trouville are five minutes away, with the restaurants, the boardwalk and the racecourse. The estate itself sits behind its own walls, on the sand.

Paris	2 hours by road
Deauville airport	20 minutes
Paris CDG	2 h 30
The beach	at the end of the garden

Guests fly to Paris and drive, or land at Deauville directly. Private aircraft use Deauville-Normandie, twenty minutes from the gate.



WHERE EVERYONE SLEEPS

Two houses, fifteen bedrooms

The estate is two separate houses. It means the couple can dress apart and meet only at the ceremony. It also means your thirty closest guests are already here when the day starts, and still here at breakfast.

L’Abbaye

Ten bedrooms. The main reception rooms, the two dining rooms and the kitchens.

Le Cloître

Five bedrooms, entirely independent. Its own entrance, its own rhythm.

Beyond thirty guests, Deauville and Trouville are five minutes away. We introduce you to the villas and hotels we work with, and shuttles are straightforward.

THE GROUNDS

Two hectares, walled

The park is where the wedding happens. Lawns wide enough for a marquee of two hundred and fifty, mature trees for a ceremony, terraces for cocktails, and a gate at the bottom that opens onto the sand.

- Indoor heated pool, eleven metres, 30°C all year
- Sauna
- Gym
- Tennis court
- Beach chalet
- Two kitchens, set up for outside caterers

THE SHAPE OF THE DAY

Forty, seventy, or two hundred and fifty

Three formats, one estate. Forty guests sit down in the two dining rooms of the Abbaye. Seventy are received standing, at a standing dinner — cocktail dînatoire — indoors or out on the terraces. Above that, a marquee goes up on the level ground, and it becomes the room you design around.

The minimum stay is not a commercial rule. It is roughly what the marquee takes to build and dismantle, and the estate is yours for the whole window. Most couples use it: a welcome dinner the night before, brunch in the park the day after.

CONFIGURATION	GUESTS	MINIMUM STAY
Seated dinner, in the Abbaye	40	3 nights
Standing dinner, in or out	70	3 nights
Marquee, on the level ground	250	4 nights

Up to seventy the estate carries the wedding on its own, which is also our wet-weather answer: the reception rooms take over if the Normandy sky decides otherwise. Above seventy the marquee is the plan, and there is no indoor alternative. We say so plainly because it shapes how you design the day.

HOW IT UNFOLDS

The day, before dinner

Getting ready

Two houses, two independent bases. The couple dress apart and meet only at the ceremony.

The ceremony

On the lawn above the beach, facing the sea.

Cocktails

On the lawns and the terraces of the Abbaye.

HOW IT UNFOLDS

And after

Dinner and dancing

Forty guests sit down in the dining rooms of the Abbaye; seventy are received at a cocktail dînatoire. Above that, the marquee, which stays in place for the evening.

The night after

The pool house, for those still standing.

The next morning

Thirty of your guests wake up on the estate. Brunch in the park, and nobody has to drive.

WHY PLANNERS COME BACK

Three things we do differently

Your suppliers

We have a network built over the seasons: caterers, florists and marquee companies who already know the site. Use it, or bring your own team. We impose nobody.

One at a time

The whole estate, and never two events in a weekend. Nobody else is on the grounds while you are here.

Net of commission

Our price carries no planner commission and no mark-up. You bill your own fee to your clients, cleanly.

THE NEXT STEP

Come and see it

We host planner visits throughout the year and will build the visit around your schedule. Tell us the date you are holding and the number of guests, and we will come back to you.
